INTRODUCTION

The Guides to German Records Microfilmed at Alexandria, VA, constitute a series of finding aids to the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) microfilm publications of seized records of German central, regional, and local government agencies and of military commands and units, as well as of the Nazi Party, its component formations, affiliated associations, and supervised organizations. For the most part, these records were created during the period 1920-1945.

The guide series was initiated as a microfilming project of the Committee for the Study of War Documents of the American Historical Association (AHA) in cooperation with the National Archives and the Department of the Army. With the termination of AHA participation in July 1963, the National Archives assumed sole responsibility for the reproduction of records and the preparation of guides.

Guide No. 93, Records of Private German Enterprises and Individuals, Part III, describes records reproduced on 15 rolls of NARA Microfilm Publications T70, T82, and T83, arranged as follows:

T70: Records of the Reich Press Association, rolls 127-133

T82: Records of the Academy for German Law, roll 551

T83: Deck Logs of the Northern German Lloyd SS Europa, rolls 104-110

German Guides Nos. 9 and 88 are Parts I and II of the descriptive series for Records of Private German Enterprises and Individuals.

The Reich Press Association (Reichsverband der Deutschen Presse, RDP) was organized as a public corporation by the Schriftleitergesetz of October 4, 1933. During the Nazi period, the RDP served as the central organization of German editors, with headquarters in Berlin and regional offices in Germany and German-occupied territories. Dr. Wilhelm Weiss was its Director. The RDP was subordinated to the Reich Ministry for Public Enlightenment and Propaganda (Reichsministerium für Volksaufklärung und Propaganda). RDP records described in this guide include general correspondence between headquarters and regional offices and with other German agencies; membership lists; annual reports and financial statements; laws and instructions governing the German press; and miscellaneous judicial opinions and verdicts involving press matters.

The Academy for German Law (Akademie für Deutsches Recht, ADR) was founded on June 26, 1933, by Hans Frank, then Reich Minister for Justice and also Bavarian Minister of Justice. The ADP maintained an office in Berlin and a "House of German Law" in Munich. Its staff, consisting of government and Nazi Party officials, judges, attorneys, law-enforcement officers, and university professors, was divided into a number of committees dealing with specific legal questions and research topics. ADR functions included assisting in the drafting of a new German code of justice and collaboration with other Reich authorities in the formulation and enactment of laws designed to foster National Socialism. Specifically, the ADR critiqued and reviewed proposed legislation, reorganized legal and political training at German educational institutions, published legal papers, coordinated the exchange of information on legal matters, and maintained liaison with legal organizations in other countries. ADR records described in this guide include minutes of ADR committee meetings, legal publications, and legislative proposals.

Records of the Northern German Lloyd steamer Europa described in this guide consist of daily ship's logs (vols. 2, 4, 5, 7-10, 12-27, 29, 32-36, and 38-47) covering the period June 24, 1930, to February 20, 1945.

The original records described in this guide were returned after filming to the Federal Republic of Germany and deposited at the Bundesarchiv in Koblenz. The master negatives of Microfilm Publications T70, T82, and T83 have been retained by the National Archives, and copies of specific rolls may be purchased from the Publication Sales Branch, National Archives and Records Administration, Washington, DC 20408. Reference copies may be consulted in the Microfilm Reading Room of the National Archives. For suggestions for citing microfilm see page xxiii; for instructions for ordering microfilm, see page xxvi.

The original descriptions for microfilming were prepared by George Wagner and revised for this guide by Amy Schmidt.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES COLLECTION OF FOREIGN RECORDS SEIZED, RECORD GROUP 242

The microfilm publications in this record group are listed below according to the place where the filming was done. The original paper records have been returned to the country of origin. A relatively small number of these papers may have been of private origin; the fact of their seizure is not believed to divest their original owners of any literary property rights in them. Anyone, therefore, who publishes them in whole or in part without permission may be held liable for infringement of property rights.

RECORDS OF U.S. ARMY COMMANDS, 1942- , RECORD GROUP 338

War crimes trials records for Germany also were collected or generated by the U.S. Third and Seventh Armies initially, then by special war crimes sections of the Judge Advocate General (JAG), Europe. Because these sections sent reports and other materials to Washington, some of the same material is in RG 53, Records of the Judge Advocate General (Army), and has proven to be a useful source for filling in gaps discovered in the RG 338 records. While materials from RG 53 are frequently found in the microfilmed publications listed below, the great bulk of the records filmed come from RG 338 in each case.

RG 338 also includes the "Foreign Military Studies" manuscripts prepared by former German officers for the Historical Division of the U.S. Army, Europe.

SUGGESTIONS FOR CITING MICROFILM OF CAPTURED GERMAN AND RELATED RECORDS IN THE NATIONAL ARCHIVES OF THE UNITED STATES

The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) is frequently asked to provide recommendations regarding information to be included in footnotes and other references to records among its holdings. The following suggestions should serve this purpose and also help our staff in locating the records thus cited.

Records

Because of the great variety and complexity of some archival material, there are no convenient models that would be applicable to all records. The initial citation, however, might consist of those of the following elements applicable in each instance: item, file unit or subseries, series title, originating office (and the administrative units of which that office is a part), name of collection or record group number and title, and depository. Except for placing the cited item first, there is no general agreement on the sequence of the remaining elements in the citation. Publishers, professional journals, and graduate faculties all prescribe their own style. Whatever sequence is adopted, however, should be used consistently throughout the same work. If in doubt, the researcher should confer with an archivist regarding elements that may be necessary to identify adequately specific records being cited.

Microfilm Publications

Citation to records reproduced in National Archives microfilm publications should provide, in general, the same information as suggested above, but with sufficient additional information to identify the particular microfilm publication as well as roll and frame numbers, if applicable.

Microfilm publications of foreign records seized during World War II involve such peculiarities of identification that largely individualized suggested systems of citation have been developed for them. The following examples suggest both a form of initial citation and of subsequent citations of the same document for each of five major microfilm projects reproducing captured German and related records. The form for the bibliography, which is not illustrated below, could be some appropriate modification of the initial citation, but should also include the National Archives record group title and number, and the title and number of the microfilm publication, e.g., National Archives Collection of World War II War Crimes Records (Nuernberg), Record Group 238, U.S. v. Otto Ohlendorf et al, Microfilm Publication M895, 38 rolls; National Archives Collection of Foreign Records Seized 1941- , Record Group 242, Records of the Reich Ministry of Economics, Microfilm Publication T71 148 rolls.

The serial number is the essential identification, whether the serial is of the interchangeable unlettered or H serials, or of the B,C,F,K,L, and M serials. The terms reel, container, or roll are acceptable variations, with the last preferred by the National Archives. With the Tripartite Project microfilm, National Archives Microfilm Publication T120, it is imperative to distinguish between serial and roll numbers, and the Catalog of Files and Microfilm of the German Foreign Ministry Archives, 1920-1945, 4 vols., has as a supplement to each volume, a National Archives serial-roll conversion list. The Public Record Office in London uses the same serial and frame numbers, although not always the same roll numbers, and the microfilm publication symbols GFM 2-5 instead of T120, to identify the Tripartite Project microfilm. The other Whaddon Hall microfilm projects use the same number for serial and roll, as the SA (Saint Antony's College project) serial example, given above, indicates; the National Archives has substituted microfilm publication number for project symbols.

PG number is the essential record item number; the National Archives T1022 roll number is sufficient microfilm identification. The "T-" and "TA-" prefixes indicate the original U.S. Navy microfilm designation (for World War I German Navy records the prefix "TA-" is used) and is included for roll verification. There are no frame numbers in this microfilm publication.
